

Company Officer Boot Camp

*Hosted by Lafayette Fire Department and
Presented by Fired Up Training Services LLC*

Reasons- Many fire officers are thrust into the role of being boss with little or no preparation. Leading fire companies is serious business and one that no officer should be under prepared to do.

Objectives- To demonstrate to the company officer the 3 basic areas that all officers must accomplish to effectively perform their duties

Overview- This two-day interactive course will give fire officers a beginning foundation to the principles of fire company management. Concentration will be on the three broad areas that form the fire officer triangle - Lead, Train, and Protect. Topics include assuming the role of company officer, introduction to leadership, simple training techniques that every officer should know, and the principles of fire service strategy. The common fireground errors every first due officer must avoid, size up for the first due company, and basic scene management. The class will spend time on several fireground scenarios to help develop better command presence and decision making skills.

Prerequisite- This class is suited for the current or future fire officer alike. It is a back to basics approach for the company officer.

Class Date - October 5 & 6, 2017

Class Time - 9:00 - 17:00 each day

Class Location - Lafayette Fire Department

Cost - $0

For registration contact - Mark Murray