Tactical leadership on the fire ground is specifically designed for those individuals ready to make the transition to the officer's seat. Structured with a focus on practical, hands on training, course participants will practice making tactical decisions while leading crews on the fire ground during live fire evolutions. Scenarios are designed to challenge those new to the company officer role or those looking to promote in the future.

This course is not intend for those who are new to the fire service and/or just received initial certification.
